This Book Is Dedicated To
JOHN MARION LEAKE
and
FANNY K. PATTON
who have spent years of their lives in compiling much of the data that it contains, to the end that it might be preserved for the generations that are to come.

"Rocky Spring"
The Old Leake Homestead Goochland County, Virginia

This picture is reproduced from a kodak picture made by Stuart C. Leake in 1897, and given by him to his aunt Livy K. Leake who subsequently gave it to Miss Sue Howard Leake, youngest daughter of Charles L. Leake and Mrs. Sue Howard (Shields), Leake, the last Leake owners of "Rocky Spring." The persons shown in the picture are: Mr. Charles L. Leake, on the steps; Mrs. Charles L. Leake, in the entrance to porch; Miss Etta Shields, Mrs. Leake's sister, on the right; Miss Sue Howard Leake, on the left; Mrs. H. W. Shields, Mrs. Leake's mother, in the chair; Mr. Walter Taylor, on the railing of the porch.

INTRODUCTION

It has taken years of research and careful examination of the records to compile this genealogy, and it would have been an impossible task without the cooperation of many members of the family. It is, therefore, fitting that grateful acknowledgement should be made to all of them, and especially to Mr. John Marion Leake, Mrs. Fanny K. Patton, Mr. C. K. Ginstead, Mrs. Katherine Tandy, Mrs. Lula Spiller Leake, and Mrs. Kate Binford Hatch.

Every effort has been made to attain absolute accuracy, and the author will appreciate any correction of errors and any additional information that may be sent him, to the end that the records of this family may be made more and more complete. This is, of course, not a complete genealogy of all branches of the Leake family, but it offers the early sketch with which the omitted branches may be connected and includes all of the material in the possession of the author. Supplementary investigation should reveal much additional data.

In so far as it is possible, items of personal interest have been included concerning each individual in addition to births, marriages, deaths and lists of children. The quotation of long records may seem tedious, but they are necessary to prove the various relationships, preserve the records, and indicate the social and economic status of the individuals which are mentioned in them.

Chapter I

ORIGIN

It is probable that the Leake family came to England from Normandy as the name is first spelled de Lec. A Luke de Lec is mentioned in Cathedral Charters in 1208 and Robert de Lec is mentioned in the same book in 1272 as being presented at Levertan Church, Lincolnshire, England. The English Genealogist, book four, names several Leakes among its Lincolnshire families. Simon de Lake is also mentioned nine generations back of 1562, which would be about 1275 to 1300. It is, therefore, evident that the name was undergoing a gradual evolution and is said to have been derived from the occupation of physicians of that time, who were called leechs from the use of that animal in drawing blood from their patients. A record of John de Leek is also found in the tax collections for Lancaster, England, in 1332.

By 1600, the name was most commonly spelled Leake and the records of many Leakes are to be found in England about that time. Some of the surnames are also given as Leek and Leak. All three of these forms of spelling are also found in the later Virginia records for the same individual. The most common English given names were Robert, William, John, Frances, Walter, Elizabeth, Mary, and Susan. These names occur with great frequency in Virginia today in this family.

The family attained its greatest prominence in England during the seventeenth century. Sir Robert Leake is mentioned as living about 1400. Sir Francis Leake, who was born in 1656 and died in 1720, was probably the father of Sir Francis Leake, first Earl of Scarsdale, 1581-1655. He was made Earl in 1645. The elder Sir Francis Leake was also the father of Richard Leake who lived about 1590-1660. The eldest son of Sir Francis Leake II was Sir Nicholas Leake, 1625-1681, and was the second Earl of Scarsdale. Robert Leake, 1659-1684, son of Sir Nicholas Leake, was the third Earl of Scarsdale. Sir Francis II married Anne Carey. Sir Nicholas married Lady Frances Rich, third daughter of Robert Rich, Earl of Warwick.

Richard Leake, 1590-1660, younger brother of Sir Francis Leake II, was the father of Captain Richard Leake who lived 1620-1696. Captain Richard Leake served in the British Navy and was the father of Sir John Leake, the noted English admiral. Sir John Leake, 1656-1720, was knighted by Queen Anne on February 3, 1703, and was made vice-admiral. He defended Gibralter in 1705, defeating the French fleet, for which he was promoted to admiral and later First Lord of the Admirality. In 1708, he captured Minorca. His only son, Richard Leake, 1682-1720, died a few months before his father and left no heirs.

Many Leakes came to Virginia during the early history of the colony. Among them were John Leake, 1635; Andrew Leake, 1642; Richard Leake, 1639, Warwick County; Richard Leake, 1636, Accomac County; Richard Leake, 1637, New Norfolk County; Christopher Leake, 1650; Mary Leake, 1654, Northampton County; Fra. Leake, 1653, Northampton County. Others came to New York and Massachusetts. The descendants of none of these are traced in this book and but little is known of them.

However, two families of this name in Virginia have fairly accurate records. One of these is headed by William Leake who settled in Goochland County in 1685, and is said to have been a first cousin of Sir John Leake. He married Mary Bostick and they came directly from England. The other family was headed by Samuel Leake, who with two sons came from England about 1770, and is said to have settled in the Shenandoah Valley but soon moved to Orange County and Albemarle County. However, most of the Albemarle County Leakes were of the Goochland branch which are so called to distinguish them from the Orange County branch.

Samuel Leake of Orange County married a Miss Raner in England. Their sons William and Robert emigrated with them to Virginia. It is said that another son stayed in England. The authority for this is the traditions of the family and a short sketch of the Orange branch written by Robert Sharp Leake of West Jefferson, Ohio, in 1897.

The Goochland and Orange County branches were rather closely related through their English ancestry and knew their relationship and visited one another in Virginia. Both families claim descent from Richard Leake, 1590-1660, and claimed relationship to Sir John Leake. The Goochland family claimed that William Leake and Sir John Leake were first cousins. The Orange County family claimed close relationship with Dr. John Leake, 1729-1792, who established the Westminister Hospital. The Goochland family also claimed relationship with Dr. John Leake. The Orange family also claimed that Samuel was a grandson of Richard Leake.

Dr. John Leake had, according to the English records, two brothers and one sister. One of these brothers was Dr. William Leake of St. Philip's Hospital, Minorca Island. The other brother was not named but may have been Dr. Samuel Leake, who was a physician and practiced in Virginia.

The father of these brothers was Rev. William Leake, a clergyman of the Church of England, 1705-1775. Rev. William Leake was a son of Richard Leake who in turn was the son of Walter Leake, 1635 to about 1700. This Walter Leake was also the father of William Leake of Goochland County. This William Leake was probably a brother of Richard who stayed in England. Now, Walter, father of William of Goochland, was a brother of Captain Richard Leake, 1620-96. This would make William of Goochland a first cousin of Sir John Leake, 1656-1720. The probable genealogy would be as follows:

1. Sir Francis Leake, 1550-1611, who had issue:
    2. Francis Leake, 1581-1655, Earl of Scarsdale.

2. Francis Leake, 1581-1655, earl of Scarsdale, married Anne Carey and had:
    3 a. Nicholas Leake, 1625-1681, Earl of Scarsdale.
    3 b. Richard Leake, 1590-1660.

3 b. Richard Leake, 1590-1660, had two sons:
    4 a. Capt. Richard Leake, 1620-1696, father of Admiral Sir John Leake.
    4 b. Walter Leake, 1635 to about 1700.

4 b. Walter Leake, 1635 to about 1700, had two sons:
    5 a. William Leake of Goochland, 1664-1725.
    5 b. Richard Leake.

5 b. Richard Leake, son of Walter Leake (4 a) had issue:
    6. Rev. William Leake of England, 1705-1775.

6. Rev. William Leake, 1705-1775, had issue:
    7 a. Dr. John Leake of Westminister, England.
    7 b. Dr. William Leake of Minoria.
    7 c. Dr. Samuel Leake who emigrated to Virginia.

An interesting account of the origin of the Leake family of Virginia is given by the late Hon. Shelton F. Leake of Charlottesville in a letter to his nephew, Dr. Henry K. Leake of Dallas, Texas, written Aug. 14, 1879. It is quoted in part as follows:

"Shelton tells me that you wish a fuller sketch of our family than the one I sent you. I am not much learned in legendary lore and can give you but a meager outline. Our history has not been an eventful one.

"As I told you before, the first Leake that ever came to Virginia (William) is said to have been the son by a first marriage of a very wealthy man on the marches (confines) of Wales in England. His mother having died in his early infancy, his father married a second wife by whom he had issue. The estates were entailed so that they would have descended to the eldest son. During the absence of the father, the step-mother had the first born kidnapped and sent to Virginia. It so happened that a company of Gypsies were in the neighborhood at the time, and the step-mother persuaded her husband that the gypsies had stolen his son. Immense rewards were offered but, of course, without results.

"This is the legend current in our family. In confirmation of it (undoubtedly authentic), the following incident is given: My uncle, Austin D. Leake, was, about 1795, sent to college at Carlisle, Pa. He was expected home every day, when one day a young man rode up to my grandfather's. My grandmother saw him alight and, supposing him to be her son, ran out and threw her arms around him, and kissed him before she discovered her mistake. He was wonderfully like my uncle Austin and gave his name as Leake from one of the northern states. He was travelling for pleasure and remained for some weeks at my grandfather's. He said that he was descended by a second marriage from a very wealthy Englishman on the Marches of Wales and that the only son by the first marriage was stolen by Gypsies. Up to this time our name had been spelled Leak, but the young man persuaded my grandfather that the true spelling was Leake, and so it has remained ever since."

The arms of the Leake are argent on a saltire engrailed azure, nine amulets or, on a canton gules, a castle of the third. The crest is a cannon mounted on a carriage all proper. The motto is Vix ea nostra voco. Its translation is "I scarcely call these things my own." A more liberal translation is "The deeds of long descended ancestors are but by the grace of imputation ours."

As can readily be seen, the foregoing is a probable rather than a proven genealogy but it is included as a family tradition that is supported by some English records. It furnishes a basis for further genealogical research and is of too great an interest to omit.

No further attempt has been made to trace the descendants of Dr. Samuel Leake of Orange but the family of William Leake of Goochland has been traced in some of its lines through the medium of well established records. Though the citation of these records may be tedious, it is necessary to prove the various assertions, and to preserve such records in case the originals should ever be destroyed.

Chapter II

EARLY VIRGINIA PERIOD

Fortunately, the family Bible of Mary Bostick, wife of William Leake, who was the immigrant ancestor of the Goochland branch of the family, has been preserved and is in the possession of Miss Sue Howard Leake of Richmond, Virginia. The date of printing of this Bible appears to be 1495 but it is more probably 1595. The title page bears this inscription:

"Imprinted at London by the Deputies of Christopher Barker, Printer to the Queenes most excellent
Majestie"

The fly leaf of the Bible has these notations written on it:

"We have been in America one year May 25th 1686"

"Mary Bostick her Booke
Given by her grandfather
Mary Bostick"

"William Leak
His Booke
March 25th
1705"

"Josiah Leak
his Book
1751"

This proves that William Leake married Mary Bostick and that they came to Virginia on May 25, 1685. It is probable that they were married after they came to the colony.

William Leake came from Nottingham, England. Their children were born in St. Peter's Parish and are listed in the parish register. Their home in Goochland was named Rocky Spring and remained continously in the family until recently.

1. William Leake (1), who was born in 1664 and died in 1725, married Mary Bostick and had issue:
    2. Walter Leake (2), born about 1704 and died in 1758, who married Judith Mask.
    3. Mary Leake (2), born about 1706 and died about 1765.
    4. William Leake (2), baptized July 15, 1694 (Reg. of St. Peter's Parish).
    5. Jane Leake (2), born January 11, 1700/1 (Reg. of St. Peter's Parish).
    6. Richard Leake (2), baptized December 11 . . . (Reg. of St. Peter's Parish).

2. Walter Leake (2), son of William (1) and Mary Bostick Leake, was born in 1704 and was a vestryman of St. James Parish and lived at Rocky Springs where he died in 1758. He had a large family. His wife was Judith, daughter of John Mask. She was born April 14, 1698.

The register of St. Peter's Parish contains the following entries:

"Judith Daughter of John Mask born ye 14th April and baptz. ye 19th of July 1698.
"Mary Daughter of John Mask bapt. ye 31st Mae 1700.
"William Son of John Mask Borne ye 6th Mae 1701.
"Timothy Son of John Mask Borne ye 20th June 1702.
"Thomas Mask deceased ye 15th d of February 1687/8."

There was a Thomas Mask who came to James City in 1638. He may have been the father of John Mask.

Walter Leake's will is recorded in Goochland County in Will Book 7 on page 279. A true copy is given below:

WILL OF WALTER LEAK OF GOOCHLAND

"In the Name of God Amen. I Walter Leak, of Goochland County, make this my last will and testament, (being very sick) Revoking all other wills by Me formerly made. And Appoint this my last, Acknowledging myself in my proper senses, I praise God for the Same.

"First: Desire my Body to be buried according to the Discression of my Executors hereafter named, without pomp.

"Secondly: that my Debts may be all paid when due, and as for my Temporal Estate it hath pleased God to bestow upon me, I give as follows, Viz. Impris. I give and bequeath to my son Josiah Leak part of the land whereon I now live, viz. the South Side from the road beginning at Groom's line and thence up the road to the Creek and up the Creek to Coles' Spring branch, thence up the sd. branch to the line, to him and his heirs forever. And the said Josiah Leak is to pay to Samuel Leak five and twenty Pounds Currt. Money.

"Item. I give and bequeath to my two sons John Leak and William Leak the remainder of the aforesaid land on the North Side of the aforesaid road that is to say any one of them is to have the whole Paying the other for his part of it. and he that will give to the other the most for his part of it, shall take the whole to him and his heirs forever.

"Item. I give and bequeath to my two sons Mask Leak and Elisha Leak my Piece of Land in Albemarle which I bought of Paul Michaux to be equally divided between them in quantity and quality to them and their heirs forever.

"Item. I give and bequeath to my three daughters, Mary Christian, Christian Johnston and Judith Leak twenty Pounds apiece after their Mother's decease.

"Item. I lend to my Daughter Elizabeth Coleman my negro girl Agge to wait on her and to work for her, her lifetime and after her decease the said Agge and her increase if she has any shall be Equally divided amongst her children.

"Item. I lend to my loving wife and desire that she may have the use of all my Estate induring her lifetime and widowhood, both land negroes, cattle, etc., and after her decease or marriage then these legacies to be paid, and the remainder of my Estate to be equally divided amongst all my children. I also desire that those of my children which have not been helped towards housekeeping with Bed, Pot, and Stock, etc. as the others, may be helped with such necessaries equally to what the others have been. I also appoint my loving wife Judith Leak and my son Josiah Leak Executors of this my last will and Testament, desiring my estate may not be appraised nor give security.

"Whereunto I set my hand and seal this 31st day of October Anno Dom. 1757. Published in Presence of us."

John Humber
Charles Christian Junr Walter Leak (seal)
Elizabeth Humber

At a court held for Goochland County May 16th, 1758.

This writing was proved by the Oaths of John Humber and Charles Christian Junr. to be the Last Will and Testament of Walter Leak decd. which was admitted to record.

Teste,
Va. Wood Cl. Cur.

From this will and the family records we find that Walter (2) and Judith Mask Leake had the following children:

7. Josiah Leake, Sr. (3), who inherited Rocky Spring. He was born in 1730 and died in 1789 and his will is on file in Goochland County, in Will Book 16, page 475. The family records show that he was married three times

(1) to Ann Fenton, (2) to Ann Minter, (3) to Ann Foster.

8. William Leake (3) who married Judith Moseley and moved to North Carolina.

9. Mask Leake (3) born in 1735; died in 1813; married Patience Morriss of Hanover November 22, 1758, (Douglas Register, page 4).

10. Samuel Leake (3) who married Elizabeth Morriss of Hanover. He was a Presbyterian minister and a graduate of Princeton (see Foote's history). He died in 1776 in Albemarle County and left his widow and three daughters.

11. Elisha Leake (3) who married (1) Joyce Thomson April 20, 1760, (see Douglas Register, p. 5) and had at least one son, George Thomson Leake, who was born April 8, 1781, (see Douglas Register, p. 103). Elisha Leake married (2) Fanny Curd by whom he had two sons, Col. Samuel Leake and Richard Leake of Shelby Co., Tenn.

12. John Leake (3), probably John M. Leake of Amherst County who served in the Revolution.

13. Elizabeth Leake (3) who married James Coleman in 1751, (see Douglas Register, p. 26-32).

14. Judith Leake (3) who married John Christian in Goochland on May 9, 1771, (see Douglas Register, p. 12).

15. Mary Leake (3) who is said to have married a Mr. Christian.

16. Christian Leake (3) married William Johnson before April 13, 1751, (see Douglas Register, p 41) and had issue:

    A. Judith Johnson, born April 13, 1751.
    B. William Johnson, born June 18, 1753.

C. Walter Johnson, born September 23, 1755.
D. Samuel Johnson, born November 17, 1757.
E. Manoah Johnson, born July 13, 1759.
F. Jeremiah Johnson, born February 14, 1762.
G. Stephen Johnson, born September 20, 1763.
H. Christian Johnson (daughter), born February 15, 1767.
I. Josiah Johnson, born April 24, 1769.

Chapter III

LINE OF JOSIAH LEAKE

Josiah Leake, Sr., (No. 7) was the son of Walter Leake (No. 2) and Judith Mask. He was born at Rocky Spring in 1730 and died there 1789 as he inherited the old Goochland homestead from his father. His will was probated in Goochland in 1795 and is recorded in Will Book 16 on page 475. Josiah Leake served as captain of militia in the Revolution being promoted to this rank in July 1777, according to McAllister's Virginia Militia in The Revolutionary War. According to the Douglas Register he married Ann Fenton in Henrico on January 1, 1759. According to the family records, his second wife was Ann Minter and his third wife was Ann Foster.

By his first wife, Ann Fenton, Josiah Leake had two daughters:

17. Lucy Leake (4) who married Frederick Jones.

18. Judith Leake (4), born in 1762, who married Charles Woodson, son of Drury Woodson. The marriage bond was dated September 23, 1780. Charles Woodson lived in Cumberland County and was a captain in the Revolution. They had a son named Charles Lewis Woodson who was born in 1794. (See William and Mary Quarterly, Vol. VI, p. 349.)

By his second wife, Ann Minter, Josiah Leake had two sons:

19. Josiah Leake, Jr., (4), born Oct. 26, 1770; died May 12, 1847; married Elizabeth P. Hatcher in 1799.

20. Walter Leake (4) who married Susanna Jones in 1790 and moved to Maysville, Kentucky. He was at one time a member of the Kentucky Legislature.

Josiah Leake's third wife was a widow, Ann Foster. By her he had two sons and one daughter:

21. John M. Leake (4) who never married.

22. Samuel Leake (4) who never married.

23. Christian Leake (4) who married Ogglesby Scruggs.

19. Josiah Leake, Jr., (4), son of Josiah Leake, Sr., (No. 17) and Ann Minter, was born October 26, 1770, and died May 12, 1847. He married Elizabeth Porter Hatcher in January 1799. She was born August 5, 1777, and died October 10, 1857. Josiah Leake, Jr., inherited the old Leake home at Rocky Spring in Goochland, which county he represented in the Legislature of Virginia in 1810-11. They had nine children as shown by the family records:

24. William J. Leake (5) who died in 1812.

25. Elizabeth Porter Leake (5), born Jan. 11, 1808; died Nov. 27, 1829.

26. Thomas J. Leake (5), born March 5, 1804; died September 3, 1804.

27. Sallie H. Leake (5), born December 4, 1801; died Aug. 4, 1819.

28. Ann Eliza Leake (5), born Dec. 19, 1799; died April 3, 1815.

29. Samuel Davies Leake (5), born Dec. 14, 1809; died July 18, 1881.

30. Walter D. Leake (5), born June 25, 1813; died Feb. 28, 1873.

31. Josiah M. Leake (5), born October 16, 1805; died in infancy.

32. Martha A. C. Leake (5), born in 1818.

29. Samuel Davies Leake (5), son of Josiah (No. 19) and Elizabeth Hatcher Leake, was born December 14, 1809, and died July 18, 1881. He married Fanny Minor Kean in 1833.

She was born September 16, 1816, and died May 1, 1865. They had the following children:

33. William J. Leake (6), born in 1840 and died in infancy.
34. Patsy Collis Leake (6), born December 10, 1841; died July 9, 1922.
35. William Josiah Leake (6), born Sept. 30, 1843; died Nov. 23, 1908.
36. Sallie Ann Leake (6), born Jan. 1, 1847; died June 29, 1864.
37. Charles Anderson Leake (6), born July 16, 1848.
38. Lavinia Kean Leake (6), born September 2, 1851.
39. Mary Minor Leake (6), born March 10, 1853.
40. John Marion Leake (6), born January 20, 1854.

30. Walter D. Leake (6), son of Josiah Leake Jr., (No. 19) and Elizabeth Porter Hatcher Leake, was born June 25, 1813, and died February 28, 1873. He married Jane Margaret Kean who was born December 29, 1819, and died April 6, 1867. They had issue:

41. Martha Eliza Leake (7) who married William Miller.
42. Andrew Kean Leake (7), born in April, 1842, and married Violet Harris.
43. Charles Launcelot Leake (7) who married Sue Howard Shield.
44. Carlisle Leake (7), born in 1846 and died in infancy.

35. William Josiah Leake (6), son of Samuel Davies Leake (No. 29) and Fanny Kean Leake, was born September 30, 1843, and died November 23, 1908. He served as judge and was at one time president of the Virginia State Bar Association. He married, first, on July 3, 1866, Sarah Rebecca Jordan, who was born September 10, 1846, and died May 13, 1890. They had the following children:

45 Fannie Kean Leake (7), born December 26, 1867, and married Rev. James Lindsay Patton in 1890. Rev. J. L. Patton was born November 20, 1866, and died November 4, 1915.

46. Josiah Jordan Leake (7), born February 13, 1870, and married Liza F. Beirne. He is a lawyer.

47. Mary Anderson Leake (7), born March 15, 1872, and died July 12, 1872.

48. Charlotte Lavinia Leake (7), born Jan. 3, 1874, and died Jan. 31, 1874.

49. Stuart Fitzhugh Leake (7), born Aug. 19, 1879, and died Jan. 2, 1880.

50 Stuart Carlisle Leake (7), born October 13, 1881.

51. Walter Samuel Leake (7), born January 27, 1875, and died May 2, 1875.

40. John Marion Leake (6), son of Samuel Davies Leake (No. 29) and Fanny Minor Kean Leake, was born January 29, 1854. Both he and his father gave many years of labor to compiling the data on the Leake family. He married, first, Elizabeth Miller in 1876 and married, second, Margaret Robertson in 1909. Elizabeth Miller was born January 29, 1853, and by her he had the following children: :

52. John Marion Leake (7), born May 24, 1876, and died August 14, 1878.

53. James Miller Leake (7), born October 1, 1879.

54. Josiah Leake (7), born October 25, 1881.

55. Samuel Callis Leake (7), born July 21, 1883.

56. Minor Reeve Leake (7), March 6, 1890.

57. Margaret Caskie Leake (7), born May 2, 1888, and died April 29, 1889.

58. Fannie Miller Leake (7), born September 2, 1882, and died April 5, 1893.

59. Elizabeth Leake (7), born Nov. 10, 1893, and died June 17, 1894.

60. William Mayo Leake (7), born September 25, 1896, and died July 19, 1897.

41. Martha Eliza Leake (7), daughter of Walter D. Leake (No. 30) and Jane Kean Leake, married William Miller and had issue:

61. Kate Miller (8).

62. Margaret K. Miller (8).

63. Walter Leake Miller (8).

42. Andrew Kean Leake (7), son of Walter D. Leake (No. 30) and Jane Kean Leake, was born 1842. He married Violet Harris and had issue:

64. Jane Margaret Leake (8), born June 13, 1873.

65. David Harris Leake (8), born July 13, 1875.

He was also a member from Goochland in the convention of 1849 and of the Secession Convention. He was a captain of artillery in the Civil War.

John M. Leake, son of Josiah Leake, Sr., moved to Alabama and was a member of the Alabama Legislature Legislature in 1822.

Chapter IV

LINE OF MASK LEAKE

Mask Leake (3), son of Walter Leake (No. 2) and Judith Mask Leake, was born in 1735 and died September 1, 1813. On November 22, 1758, he married Patience Morriss of Hanover, the service being performed by the Rev. William Douglas according to the Douglas Register. In his letter to Dr. H. K. Leake of Dallas, Texas, written in 1879, Shelton F. Leake of Charlottesville states:

"Mask Leake was my grandfather and died in the year I was born, 1812. He was born in 1735. He had (to live to be grown) five sons, vis.: William, Walter, Austin, Josiah, and Samuel, the last being your grandfather. I ought to have told you that my grandfather married Patience Morriss of Hanover County, Virginia. A somewhat singular circumstance it was that four sisters (Misses Morriss) of Hanover married Albemarle Gentlemen and settled within a diameter of four miles. My oldest uncle, William, was a plain farmer and an excellent man. He died in or about 1833, leaving three sons and one daughter. The next, Austin, was a lawyer of distinction but sank down while in the midst of an argument in the Supreme Court of Appeals in Richmond, and expired in half an hour. He had not reached the prime of life. A grandson of his (Chas. Austin Leake) was at father's in Yazoo City some years ago. I have made a mistake. Austin was the third son. Walter, the second son, was the grandfather of Walter Kearn Leake. You know all about him, I suppose. He was, during Mr. Jefferson's administration, a candidate in this (the old Albemarle district) for Congress against Gov. Thomas Mann Randolph (Mr. Jefferson's son-in-law). Randolph beat him by two votes, and he instantly announced again. Before another election, however, Mr. Jefferson appointed him United States Judge of the then District of Mississippi, and it was generally thought that the appointment was given him in order to get him out of Gov. Randolph's way.

"Josiah Leake, the fourth son, studied law and was rapidly rising in the profession when he died in Lynchburg at quite an early age, unmarried. My father married Sophia Farrar of this county. She died in 1819, so that I can barely remember her. Her mother was Susanna Shelton of Louisa. The Sheltons were wealthy and stood as well as any. I know nothing of my grandfather's (Farrar's) family. I do know that his immediate family stood well.

"The old Leake family mansion yet stands at Lickin Hole in Goochland and is still held by one of the family.

"I hardly know of any other particulars that I can give. One fact that I may state is that the Leakes are now less numerous in this county than they were seventy-five years ago, and I believe they are less numerous in this state. I am the "Last of the Mohicans" here. My only son, for the moment here, is with you in Texas. The old family is scattered to the four winds. One branch went to Kentucky, Walter Leake, a first cousin of my father, went to Kentucky, and was in Congress for many years from that state. Another settled in North Carolina where one of them (Walter K. Leake) was the regularg Democratic candidate for governor some years since. He and I had a correspondence once. He was then very wealthy, but I had a letter from him, two or three months since, stating that he had been ruined as a result of the war. Another branch settled in Georgia, with one of whom I once had a brief correspondence. After all, I believe that your father was the cleverest man of the family that I ever knew. But this letter is sufficiently long. I am apt to become garrulous on this theme. We are all as well as usual. My wife's health is delicate though she leads an active life. Shelton met with a very cordial reception on his return. Indeed, he is very much beloved here. Pray remember me most affectionately to all your family and believe me as ever."

"Your affectionate Uncle,

S. F. Leake."

The will of Mask Leake is recorded in Albemarle County in Will Book 5, page 301.

"Codicil, Aug. 19, 1813

"Item, I give to my grandson Joseph Leake in addition to what I gave him in my Last Will . . . . ."

Probated, Oct. 1, 1813.

Mask Leake lived near North Garden Throughfare in Albemarle County. He was an elder of the Cove Presbyterian Church which he often represented in the Presbytery of Hanover. The Virginia Magazine of History reprinted a petition presented by Mask Leake and others to the General Assembly of Virginia for the relief of the payment of tithes to the Episcopal Church. His land in Albemarle was given him by the father of his wife.

He was a captain in the Revolution and was at Yorktown with two of his sons, William and Walter. See MacAllister's Virginia Militia in the Revolutionary War, and Wood's History of Albemarle County.

9. Mask Leake (3), son of William Leake (2) and Judith Mask Leake, was born in 1735 and died September 1, 1813. On November 22, 1758, he married Patience Morriss of Hanover and had issue:

    73. William Leake (4), born in 1759 who married Anna Minter.

    74. Walter Leake (4), born in 1762 and married Elizabeth Wingfield.

    75. Samuel Leake (4), born in 1765 and died in 1774.

    76. Austin Leake (4), born in 1768.

77. Lucy Leake (4), born in 1770 and married John Buster.

78. Judith Leake (4), born in 1772 and died in 1779.

79. Elisha Leake (4), born in 1774 and died in 1779.

80. Josiah Leake (4), born in 1777 and died in 1806.

81. Samuel Leake, Jr., (4), born in 1779 and died in 1832. Married Sophia Farrar in 1821.

73. William Leake (4), son of Mask Leake and Patience Morris Leake, was born in 1759 and died about the first of September, 1834. He married Anna Minter, daughter of Anthony Minter of Powhatan County. He served in the Revolution and rose to the rank of captain. See Wood's History of Albemarle County, and the court records cited below. The following record of the Pension Office is also of interest:

On March 16, 1833, William Leake made a codicil owing to the death of his son, Josiah Leake, in which he direst that the part left Josiah be sold to discharge debts of the estate. This will was recorded October 22, 1836, and an appeal was taken August 7, 1835.

The testimony in the suit concerning this will supplies much genealogical and biographical data and the most interesting items are quoted below:

"The deposition of Mrs. Sally Robinson taken at her home on Friday the 9th of Oct., 1835, between the hours of 11 o'clock in the morning and sunset of the same day before me, William B. Harris, a justice of the peace according to the notice returned herewith to be read as evidence in a suit in which Samuel Leake & others are appellants defending in the Superior Court of Albmarle County. This deponent being sworn according to law, deposeth and sayth:

"Captain Leake and myself were raised in two miles of each other. Our fathers were brothers and our mothers were sisters, and the uttermost friendship existed between the two families. After our marriage we lived in three miles of each other and the same friendship existed until the day of his death. I considered him a man of plain but sound mind with firmness and stability. I never suspected him of failing until after he was paralized which took place, I think, in 1827. It was then evident to all who were much acquainted with him, so much so that his wife frequently spoke of it to his acquaintances. The year following, I think it was after a second attact of his disease, I was at his house and his wife remarked that she had told Mr. Leake that he would have to get one of his sons to come home and take charge of him and his business. Accordingly, his son William came home the next year and continued with his father several years. In the summer of 1831, Cousin William Leake and his wife being on a visit at my house, in the course of the day the old gentleman became irritable in consequence of a trifling joke which produced considerable laughter in the company. Next day I dined at his home and his wife in apology for his irritation the evening before, said she was afraid to let him go from home without her as he was apt to take the wrong notions, 'for,' she said, 'he is not himself.'

"In the latter part of 1832, Mrs. Leake took up the strange nation that her husband had deeded or made over his property to his son Samuel. This notion produced a great distraction in the family. During the time of this unpleasant state of things in the family, I was sent for particularly by Mrs. Leake to come visit her. I was also required by the children to go hoping I would succeed in convincing their mother that she was mistaken and that peace might be restored to their father, at least in that particular. It may be proper to state that this deed which was causing so much distress in the family was nothing more than Bonds which the old gentleman had given his son for money borrowed of him and which were renewed about this time. Samuel came to see me and brought with him the papers that I might see for myself and be able to silence her suspicions on this subject. Walter came over in a day or two and brought one of his own horses for me to ride to his father's. When I got there she met with her usual friendship but evidently with feelings of a strong nature. She soon commenced her tale of woe and while on that subject she seemed to be in a rage, so much so that she was all in a tremour. She spoke of the deed and intimated that her mother had revealed it to her from Heaven. She said that Mr. Leake had told her that Samuel would not see her suffer but that she would go to the poorhouse before she would receive anything from his hand. She spoke very degradingly of each of her husband's sons. She said he had told her before they were married that his children were good children but it was not so.

"Her husband was present during this conversation but said nothing in reply. He would sometimes walk the room apparently in great distress and as it were, breathe out his feelings as though unconscious of what was said. 'Poor Josiah,' he would say, 'I have never given him anything. I always intended to have given him Little Jim,' and then he would stop. She told me of a conversation that had passed between herself and her husband, she did not say when, respecting some person who had before marriage made provision for the support of his wife, provided she was left a widow. 'Mr. Leake', said she, 'why did you not provide for me in the same way? It is not too late now.' She would say, 'How can I bear to see these poor little negroes that I have raised torn from me by Sam Leake?'

"These are a few things of many that took place during my visit, but not having charged my memory with them, I am not able to state them with accuracy. I could not understand whether I had quieted her suspicions with regard to the deed but I believe that I left them as I found them, a miserable family. He told me his wife was unwell and gave me to understand it was her mind, then remarked, 'We think we are doing the best we can for her but she won't think so.' Knowing that I had heard all about the unpleasant state of things in the family and the cause of it, he did not explain the cause of his dissatisfaction.

"In the early part of 1833, I was sent for to see the old man who was ill during my stay and his wife talked of but little else but his children, speaking most disrespectfully of them to me in his presence. He would request her to stop that conversation, remarking it was very unpleasant to him and no doubt it was to me but she paid no regard to him."

In the papers of this suit, William Leake was called Captain William Leake. In this connection the following citations are of interest:

"Testator died about the 1st of September, 1834."

"Testator was in the War of the Revolution and shortly after entering was transferred to the Continental army."

Caroline M. Leake was his second wife as shown by the testimony of his physician, Dr. J. Grinder which is given below:

"I was acquainted with William Leake of Albemarle County who lived fifteen miles from Charlottesville . . . I also knew his wife, her name was Caroline. I did not know his first wife. Mrs. Leake was much younger than Mr. Leake. I was his family physician . . . . He had two attacks of paralysis, the first in the fall of 1827 at Walter Coles' on the Green Mountain. The second attack was in September, 1828 . . . . His memory was very much impaired by this. I must say that Mrs. Leake had considerable influence on her husband. He would not do anything contrary to her wishes."

J. Grinder.

The identity of the first wife and mother of all the children of Capt. William Leake is established by the evidence of Josiah Cosby:

"I do hereby certify that to the best of my knowledge, Anney Leake, daughter of Anthony Minter of Powhatan, wife of William Leake of Albemarle, died some time in the year 1808, and that Anthony Minter, father of the said Anney Leake, died some time in the year 1812, and that William Leake, husband of the said Anney Leake, and acting executor of Anthony Minter . . . . etc." Josias Cosby.

In his evidence, Walter Coles of the Green Mountain said:

"Mr. Leake and myself married sisters and have been very intimate from the time of their marriage, say 16 or 17 years . . . ."

Mr. Coles evidently had reference to Caroline, the second wife of Captain Wm. Leake. Walter Coles belonged to the famous Coles family of Enniscorthy.

Direct examination of witness by Samuel Leake supplemented the data on the family relationships:

Question:

"Was my father twice married and if so state the time of the death of his first wife and his marriage to the second?"

Answer:

"Yes, he was married twice and his first wife died in 1808 and he married the present wife who is the appelle in or about the year 1817."

Question:

"At what time did my grandfather Minter, who was the father of my father's first wife, die?"

Answer:

"He died after the death of your mother."

The will of Anthony Minter is on record in Powhatan County in Will Book 4, on page 78. It was made in 1808 and was recorded October 21, 1812. An abstract is given of the items of interest:

"Son Jeremiah Minter.

"To sell land reserving one half acre for a burying ground.

"Four grandchildren:: Jonas Cosby, son of my daughter Mary Cosby, Decd.; Samuel Leake, son of my daughter, Anna Leake; Woodson Layne, son of my daughter Tabitha Layne; and Josiah Minter, son of my grandson Gabriel Minter.

"My son Gabriel Minter.

"My three granddaughters descendants of my son Richard Minter, Decd., to wit: Patty Minter, Betsy Minter, and Sally Minter my tract of land lying in North Carolina which I purchased of Wm. Riddle . . .

"My son William Minter, land lying in the fork of Deep and Haw Rivers in North Carolina which I purchased of James and Elizabeth Riddle . . .

"My son Joseph Minter, three negroes which were in his possession.

"My daughter Betsy Dupuy . . .

"My daughter Anna Leake, four slaves to wit: Sucky, Milly, Isham, and Jesse . . .

"My daughter, Tabitha Layne and grandaughter Polly Layne . . .

"Grandson Gabriel Minter . . .

"Children of my daughter Mary Cosby, Decd. . . .

"Son John Minter. . . ."

The executors of this will were his son, Jeremiah Minter; two sons-in-law, William Leake and Tarlton Layne; and grandson, Gabriel Minter.

The late T. C. Leake, Sr., grandson of Captain William Leake wrote a brief family sketch which is in the possession of Mrs. Chappelear and is copied below:

RECORDS OF T. C. LEAKE, SR.

"Grandfather William Leake married Anna Minter. I do not know dates of births, marriage, or deaths. His children were:

Samuel Leake, born June 14, 1790; died December 27th, 1858.

Elizabeth Ann Leake, do not know dates.

William Leake. Do not know dates.

Josiah Leake, born January 11th, 1802; died August 14th, 1832.

Walter Leake, our father, born December 17th, 1792; died December 24th, 1859.

Mahala R. Leake, our mother, born March 18th, 1804; died May 7th, 1875.

Walter Leake of the County of Albemarle was married to Mahala R. Johnson, daughter of Benjamin and Mary Johnson, on the 16th July, 1823, of Henrico.

Our grandmother, Mary Johnson, born the 6th of August, 1765; died on the 11th of October, 1834.

James W. Leake was born August 18th, 1824, and married in 1844 to Caroline George of Goochland who died in 1858, and in 1862 married Victoria Payne of Goochland. He died in May 1887.

Benjamin N. Leake, born Sept. 27th, 1826, married Fannie Tinsley of Hanover in 1852, died in 1871 leaving three children: Walter Leake, Benjamin Leake, and Annie Leake who married William Spiller. In 1873, he married Mrs. Atwood Reeve of Hanover, nee Attie Tinsley.

Thadeus C. Leake was born August 17th, 1829, died January 18th, 1904.

Mollie A. Leake, born December 13th, 1831.

Josiah Leake was born September 21st, 1833, was married March 29th . . . . . to Bettie Smith of Richmond who died Sept. 1892, leaving three children:

Pembroke S. Leake who married Bessie Patch of Henrico, Sallie Leake, and Harriet Leake who married Ashton Schermerhorn of Henrico.

Sallie J. Leake was born April 16th, 1835, and married, 1857, to Alfred Meador of Cumberland County. They have four children: Walter, James, Annie, and Mollie Meador.

Walter Samuel Leake was born July 16th, 1839 and was married Dec. 24th, 1861, to Julia Duke of Louisa County, who died in 1870 leaving one daughter, Mary G. Leake who married John W. Deitrick of Goochland. In 1875 he married Mattie Thomasson of Henrico. They have three children: Lena, Grace, and Walter Leake.

Pembroke G. Leake was born Dec. 13th, 1841, and was married (1) Dec. 1867 to Jane E. Carden of Henrico who died April, 1878, leaving four children:

Florence who married Beauregard Henly of Henrico.
Effie who married T. M. Jackson of Henrico.
Clara Leake.
Ballad Leake.
Pembroke G. Leake married (2) Mrs. Ada Cauthorn, nee Nash."

From these records and other family data, it is seen that William Leake, No. 73 and his wife, Anna Minter, had the following children:

82. Samuel Leake (5), born June 14, 1790; died December 27, 1858. He owned the old Mountain Top Hotel in the Rockfish Gap of the Blue Ridge above Afton. It was a very popular and fashionable summer resort and it was here that the first meeting was held organize the University of Virginia.

83. Elizabeth Ann Leake (5).

84. Walter Leake (5), born December 17, 1792; died December 24, 1859.

85. William Leake (5).

86. Josiah Leake (5), born January 11, 1802; died August 14, 1832, unmarried. A notice published in The Whig at Richmond for August 21, 1832, stated:
"Died.—At the Hot Springs on the 14th instant, Mr. Josiah Leake, Jr., of the firm of Anderson and Leake of this city."

His brother, Samuel Leake, qualified as administrator of his estate on November 24, 1832, with Walter Leake and Jesse Snead as securities. The senior partner of the firm of Anderson and Leake was probably the Mr. Anderson who married Elizabeth Ann, sister of Josiah Leake.

83. Elizabeth Ann Leake (5), daughter of William Leake, No. 73, and Anna Minter Leake, married Mr. Anderson and had issue:

87. Samuel Leake Anderson (6).

88. J. M. Anderson (6).

89. Josiah L. Anderson (6).

90. Walter A. Anderson (6).

91. Sarah A. Anderson (6) who married a Mr. Boatwright and had issue:

92. Rebecca Boatwright (7).

93. Thomas Boatwright (7).

84. Walter Leake (5), son of William Leake, No. 73, and Anna

1205983

Minter Leake, was born December 17, 1792, and died December 24, 1859. He married Mahala R. Johnson, daughter of Benjamin Johnson and Mary Henley, his wife, on July 16, 1823 They lived at Aspen Grove in Henrico County, not far from Shady Grove Church, which was built on land donated by the Leakes. The children of this family were:

94. James William Leake (6), born August 18, 1824; died in May, 1887.

95. Benjamin Michael Leake (6), born September 27, 1826; died Dec. 9, 1881.

96. Thaddeus Constantine Leake, Sr., (6) born August 17, 1829; died Jan. 18, 1904.

97. Mary Ann Leake (6), born Dec. 13, 1831.

98. Josiah Leake, (6), born September 21, 1833.

99. Sarah Jane Leake (6), born April 16, 1835.

100. Walter Samuel Leake (6), born July 7, 1839.

101. Pembroke S. Leake (6), born December 13, 1841.

85. William M. Leake (5), son of William Leake, No. 73, and Anna Minter Leake, was born in September, 1805, and died in April, 1850, according to the inscription on his tomb in the cemetery on the farm of Mr. William Powell near Hardware bridge near Covesville, Albemarle County. This was the old Leake home. William M. Leake married Miss Dietrich who was born October 28, 1812, and died Jan. 14, 1884, according to the family records and had two children:

102. William Glodomore Leake (6), born December 27, 1848 and died October 19, 1908, at Harrisonburg, Virginia, without issue. He is said to have been a man of very economical habits and amassed a good estate which he left to found the Rockingham Memorial Hospital which contains a bronze tablet to his memory. He is buried beside his parents.

103. Elizabeth Leake who died unmarried.

94. James William Leake (6), son of Walter (No. 84) and Mahala Johnson Leake, was born August 18, 1824, and died in May, 1887. He married Caroline George of Goochland on December 24, 1844. The family Bible of William George and Susan Winn George, dated June 4, 1833, is in the possession of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snead of Hanover who very kindly allowed a copy to be made and which is given below:

Chapter V

MISSISSIPPI BRANCH

74. Walter Leake (4), son of Mask Leake (No. 9) and Patience Morriss Leake, was born May 20, 1762, at the Leake home near Covesville in Albemarle County, Virginia, and died November 6, 1825, in Mississippi. He married Elizabeth Wingfield. He was a fine lawyer and was a member of the Virginia Legislature in 1805. Soon thereafter, he moved with his family to Hinds County, Mississippi, where he had been appointed judge of the Mississippi Territory by President Jefferson. Upon the admission of that state to the Union, he was elected its first United States Senator in 1817. He held this office until 1820 when he resigned to accept the nomination for Governor, which office he held 1822-25. He died in 1825 while serving his second term. Leake County, Mississippi, is named in his honor.

The following anecdote, which appeared in the Richmond Enquirer, is interesting and well worth recording:

"Walter Leake was Governor of Mississippe when Lafayette visited that state in 1824. He was then confined to his bed by a disease of which he died a year or two after; but sent his aide-de-camp to pay his respects to the illustrious French-American. As soon as his name was mentioned, Lafayette repeated it: 'Walter Leake.' I think I remember him. Is he not from Virginia?' He was told that he was. 'Well,' said Lafayette, 'he was a deserter during the Revolutionary war.' He then related an incident which he believed to be authenticated. When Captain Mask Leake was about to leave home in 1781 to lead his company into war, Walter (then seventeen years old) insisted on going with him, but the old man told him that he had given up his first born to the cause of his country, and was to dedicate himself to the same cause; and that he (Walter) must stay at home to aid in taking care of his mother and the little ones. He accordingly left him. In two days after, the old lady, a true Revolutionary matron, fitted up Walter, and told him to go and fight for his country, that she would take care of the farm and little ones herself. The boy accordingly went and later participated in the seige of Yorktown. On reaching that point, his father carried him to Lafayette and, stating the circumstances, begged some easy berth for his runaway son, which was granted. 'And so,' said Lafayette, 'Walter Leake deserted home to fight for his country'."

Gov. Walter and Susan Wingfield Leake had the following children:

250. Susan Wingfield Leake (5), born February 6, 1788; died June 13, 1861; married Judge Henry Goodloe Johnson.

251. William Morriss Leake (5), no issue.

252. Austin Leake (5), born August 15, 1792, and died December 23, 1825.

253. Walter Mask Leake (5), born May 20, 1795, and died in June 1825 at Natchez, Mississippi.

254. Lucy Leake (5), born November 10, 1800, and died April 2, 1859, at Black Hawk, Mississippi. She married Dr. Garrett Keirn.

255. Mary Leake (5), born in 1797 and died in 1806.

256. Elizabeth Leake (5), born in 1803 and died in 1805.

257. Eliza Leake (5), born May 15, 1806, and died September 22, 1822 in Claibourne County, Mississippi.

250. Susan Wingfield Leake (5), daughter of Gov. Walter Leake (No. 74) and Susan Wingfeld Leake, was born February 6, 1788, and died June 13, 1861. She married Judge Henry Goodloe Johnson and had seven children:

258. Washington Lafayette Johnson (6).

259. Virginia W. Johnson (6).
260. Elizabeth Wingfield Johnson (6).
261. Thomas Johnson (6).
262. Walter Leake Johnson (6).
263. William Burrus Johnson (6).
264. Henry Goodloe Johnson (6).
265. Mary Agnes Johnson (6).

Chapter VI

JOHNSON

The Johnson family has not been completely investigated by the author but appears to be of good standing and well connected. For a long time they appear to have lived in Henrico County where Michael Johnson died in 1785. His will is recorded in Will Book 1, on page 310, and was witnessed by Willey, David, and Martha Bowles. This will also shows his children then living.

1. Michael Johnson (1) of Henrico, name of wife unknown, died after December 3, 1785, and left issue:
    2. Benjamin Johnson (2).
    3. David Johnson (2).
    4. Thomas Johnson (2).
    5. Jonas Johnson (2).
    6. William Johnson (2).
    7. Alice Johnson (2).
    8. Martha Johnson (2).
    9. Sarah Johnson (2).
    10. Frances Johnson (2).
    11. Jane Johnson (2).

2. Benjamin Johnson (2), son of Michael Johnson, was born June 18, 1756, and died in 1809. In 1785 he married Mary, daughter of Leonard Henley. These dates together with a list of their children with dates of births and notations of their marriages were obtained from the family Bible of the late Mrs. Jeanie Watson of Charlottesville, daughter of Maj. Jesse Snead and Jane Jude Johnson. Mary Henley was born August 6, 1765, and died in 1834. Benjamin Johnson lived at "Aspen Grove" in Henrico County and was a farmer. His granddaughter, Mrs. Jeanie Watson, stated that he served in the Revolution as a scout and that one of Tarleton's troopers cut him across the face with a saber and left him for dead. This was a slight error on the part of the trooper as Benjamin Johnson lived to raise a large family.

He left his family well provided for at the time of his death which occurred while he was still in the prime of life. He had been to Richmond and as the weather was very warm he ate or drank something that caused his death. His wife lived for twenty five years longer and attended to his affairs.

Mrs. Ella Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Watson, supplies the following affidavit concerning his service in the Revolution:

"Benjamin Johnson, born in Henrico Co. the 18th day of June, 1756, died in Henrico County in 1809. His place of residence during the Revolution was Henrico Co. Married Mary Henley, Henrico Co., 1785. Was private in Revolutionary War.

"Benjamin Johnson in Virginia Militia, Revolution, Dec. 3, 1777, page 82, Virginia Historical Magazine, Vol. 10.

"Certified copy of paper in my possession

" 'That Benjamin Johnson was in the Revolution in capacity of scout, and while scouting was cut down by one of General Tarleton's troopers and left for dead. But he recovered and bore to the end of his life the saber cut across his face. This paper has been handed down in the family, and I swear that it is correct. This paper was signed by T. C. Leake, a first cousin of my mother's.

The names, births, and to whom married are taken from this paper and are on my supplemental paper of Benjamin Johnson.

Ella W. Johnson."

Signed before a notary public in Aug. 1924.

Benjamin Johnson and Mary Henley had issue.

12. Elizabeth Johnson (3), born April 10, 1786, and married John Ellis.

13. Polly Johnson (3), born June 3, 1788, married John Winn.

14. Lucy Johnson (3), born Nov. 1, 1790, married Stephen Du Val.

15. Michael Johnson (3), born Feb. 22, 1793, married Sophey Lewis.

16. Sally Johnson (3), born Nov. 29, 1795, married Samuel Leake.

17. Benjamin Johnson (3), born Nov. 13, 1798, and died in infancy.

18. Jane Jude Johnson (3), born June 5, 1801, married Jesse Snead.

19. Mahala Johnson (3), born March 17, 1804, married Walter Leake.

20. Martha Johnson (3), born July 27, 1807, married Isaac Winston.

13. Mary Johnson (3), commonly called Polly, daughter of Benjamin (2) and Mary Henley Johnson, was born June 3, 1788, and died September 30, 1857. She is buried in Riverview Cemetery at Charlottesville and the head stone gives the date of her birth as June 3, 1789. She married John Winn, son of John Winn and Mary Bowles of Hanover. He was born September 9, 1782, and died November 13, 1837. John Winn was the son of John Winn and his wife, Mary Bowles, of Hanover County. He owned Belle Monte or Belmont, a colonial estate on which much of Charlottesville is now built. He was, for many years, postmaster of Charlottesville and was the first treasurer of the University of Virginia. They had eight children:

21. Benjamin Bannister Winn (4), born Sept. 17, 1811, and died Nov. 3, 1851. He married Mary J. Garrett who was born Jan. 22, 1818, and died on July 17, 1869.

22. John Jordan Winn (4), born May 31, 1829, and married Alice Wood.

23. William Winn (4).

24. Thomas Winn (4).

25. Ann Elizabeth Winn (4) who married Judge George Rogers King on May 12, 1832.

26. Martha Winn (4) who married David B. Grettor on Oct. 24, 1838.

27. Mary Jane Winn (4) who married John A. Grettor in August, 1831.

28. Sarah Adeline Winn (4) married John Yates Barrett on September 7, 1840. They were the grandparents of G. W. Chappelear, Jr.

15. Michael Johnson (3), son of Benjamin Johnson (2) and Mary Henley Johnson, was born February 22, 1793. On November 13, 1816, he married Sophia, daughter of Jesse Pitman Lewis and Nancy Clarkson, his wife, and had four children:

    29. Benjamin Lewis Johnson (4).

    30. Richard Johnson (4).

    31. Thomas Johnson (4).

    32. Jesse Johnson (4).

18. Jane Jude Johnson (3), born June 5, 1801, and died September 9, 1856. She married Maj. Jesse Snead in 1819. Jesse Snead was born August 13, 1794, and died September 7, 1855. He was a major in the war of 1812, and lived near Grand Squirrel Church in Hanover. When he returned from the war he organized the first Sunday School in America at that church in the Baptist faith. He was the son of Robert

Snead, a soldier in the Revolution, who married Sophia Harris. Jesse and Jane Johnson Snead had issue:

33. Ann Mariah Snead (4) who married Napoleon B. Binford.

34. Jesse Snead (4) who married Miss Ellis.

35. Robert Benjamin Snead (4) who married Mrs. Mary Woodfin, nee Goodman.

36. Thomas Lownes Snead (4) who married Miss Rue.

37. Quintus Snead (4) who married India Thomas.

38. Lewis Snead (4) who died unmarried.

39. Ella Snead (4) who married Joseph Bozeman.

40. Jeanne Jesse Snead (4), born July 10, 1841, and died in September, 1930. She married William Anderson Watson on December 10, 1861 and had six children:

    40 a. Mamie Henly Watson (5) who married Frank Williams.

    40 b. Morris Watson (5) who died unmarried.

    40 c. Ella Watson (5) who married Jas. L. Johnson.

    40 d. Hallie Watson (5).

    40 e. Daisy Watson (5).

    40 f. Norton Watson (5) who married Janie Nairne.

Chapter VII

HENLEY—JUDE—FARRAR

HENLEY

The early information concerning this family is very incomplete and it is hoped that it can later be supplemented. The late Mr. Norvell L. Henley of Williamsburg did some research work on them and the Southern Quarterly, Vol. 5, page 38 has a brief article on the early Henleys. From these sources we learned that the first definite member of the family was Reynold Henley who was born in England and settled James City County in 1661. The name of his wife is not known. He had a son, Leonard Henley, Sr., and possibly other children. Leonard Henley, Sr., married Elizabeth Richardson and from this time the account of the family is more fully established. The author hopes that all interested person will cooperate in the effort to compile a complete history of the family.

1. Reynolds Henley settled in James City County in 1661 and had issue:

    2. Leonard Henley, Sr., (2).

2. Leonard Henley, Sr., (2), son of Reynold Henley, married Elizabeth Richardson before 1720. He patented 360 acres of land in James City County in 1694. He was justice of the peace in 1738. They had issue:

    3. Turner Henley (3), who married Elizabeth Dandridge.
    4. William Henley (3).
    5. Leonard Henley (3) who married Elizabeth Jude.
    6. Maj. Richardson Henley (3), born 1720 and died 1781, who married Elizabeth Brown.

3. Turner Henley (3), son of Leonard Henley (No. 2) and Elizabeth Brown Henley, married Elizabeth Dandridge and had six children:

   7. Frances Dandridge Henley (4) who married Tobias Leah, secretary to Gen. George Washington.

   8. John Dandridge Henley (4) who was appointed commodore by Washington.

   9. Capt. Robert Henley (4).

   10. William Henley (4).

   11. Bartholomew Henley (4).

   12. Samuel Henley (4).

4. William Henley (3), son of Leonard Henley (No. 2) and Elizabeth Richardson Henley, was married before 1751 to Mary, daughter of Thomas Osborne of Henrico. In 1751 they executed a deed in Henrico that shows that they sold their property there and moved to that part of Albemarle that is now Fluvanna County. Dr. B. L. Ancell gives an account of this family in The Midland Virginian for January 16, 1930. William and Mary Henley had eleven children:

   13. Keziah Henley (4) who married Charles Johnson, Dec. 8, 1771.

   14. Elizabeth Henley (4) who married Samuel Puryear, Nov. 24, 1775.

   15. Mary Ann Henley (4) who married Benjamin Mayo, Feb. 4, 1779.

   16. Mildred Henley (4) who married Wm. Cowell or Cowan.

   17. Rebecca Henley (4) who married Woodson Bugg, bond July 14, 1785.

   18. William Henley (4) who married Marianne Smith before 1773.

   19. Leonard Henley (4) who moved to Amherst.

20. Caleb Henley (4) who married Polly Bond, bond Dec. 22, 1790.

21. Thomas Osborne Henley (4) who married (1) Martha Woodson Bugg, daughter of William Bugg, bond Jan. 11, 1792, and married (2) Polly Herndon on February 16, 1809.

22. Hezekiah Henley (4).

23. Patsy Henley (4) who married Edmund Noel, bond Nov. 10, 1800.

5. Leonard Henley, (3), son of Leonard Henley (No. 2) and Elizabeth Richardson Henley, lived in Henrico where his will was made January 29, 1803, and recorded June 6, 1803. He was born October 1, 1768, and married Elizabeth Jude, daughter of John and Mary Jude of Powhatan County. The will of Leonard Henley is recorded in Henrico County in Will Book 3 on page 55 and shows the following children:

24. Turner R. Henley (4).

25. Leonard Henley (4).

26. Patrick Henley (4).

27. John Henley (4).

28. Mary Johnson (4).

29. Lucy Perkins (4).

30. Benjamin Henley (4).

6. Maj. Richardson Henley (3), son of Leonard Henley (No. 2) and Elizabeth Richardson Henley, was born in 1720 and died in 1781. He lived at "Merry Oaks" in James City County. Judge Norvell Henley stated that he married Elizabeth Brown, Samuel Dyer of York County in his will which was recorded March 21, 1757, mentions Frances, Rebecca, and Sarah Rhodes, daughters of Clifton Rhodes, and Sarah and Leonard Henley children of Richardson Henley. Maj. Richardson Henley had nine children:

31. Sarah Henley (4) who married Harris.
32. Susan Henley (4) who married Brown.
33. Alice Henley (4) who married Durfey.
34. Martha Henley (4) who never married.
35. Mary Henley (4) who married Brown.
36. Nancy Henley (4) who married Baird.
37. Richardson Henley (4) who was drowned.
38. Captain Archer Henley (4).
39. Leonard Henley (4) who married Fannie Brown and died in 1812.

28. Mary Henley (4), daughter of Leonard Henley (No. 5) and Elizabeth Jude Henley, was born August 6, 1765, and died in 1834. She married Benjamin Johnson in 1785 and lived at "Aspen Grove" in Henrico County. They had nine children as listed in the Johnson family. See Benjamin Johnson (No. 2).

39. Leonard Henley (4), son of Maj. Richardson Henley (No. 6) married Fannie Brown and had six children:

40. Lucy Henley (5) who married Coke.
41. Fannie Henley (5) who married Bush.
42. Leonard Henley (5), born in 1778 and had nine children.
43. Thomas M. Henley (5) who married Sarah Yates.
44. Wilson V. Henley (5) who left issue.
45. Richardson Henley (5), born, 1786, and died in 1865, married Catherine Norvell Lightfoot and left six children.

43. Thomas M. Henley (5), son of Leonard Henley (No. 39) and Fannie Brown Henley, was born in Williamsburg but moved to King and Queen County. Bagby states in his His- tory of King and Queen County his parents were Episcopalians but that he concluded that immersion alone was baptism and decided to join the Baptist Church. His father, Leonard Henley, opposed his connecting himself with the Baptists who were then a despised sect and threatened to disinherit him but he acted according to dictates of his conscience and became a Baptist. He married a Miss Yates, granddaughter of Bishop Yates of the Episcopal Church. He was a noted Baptist preacher.

We are indebted to Miss Sally Stroughan Henley for a copy of the Bible records of this family.
